Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

To those of a reflective temperament, years bring a certain flavor. It is the seasoning, if you like, that experience imparts to life. We speak of a "salty" humor; sometimes of a "salty" character. Old Mr. So-and-So has a "peppery" temper. Others of advanced years display an ingredient of "ginger;" sometimes it is "mustard." And occasionally, sad to remark, it is "vinegar." But there are other flavorings that have no equivalent from the cook book, at least none that are adequate. But on the whole only those who grow old gracefully, governed by the inner conviction "that the best is yet to be" have truly succeeded as human beings. "The best" may be of this world or the next, but without hope, without a zest for living, life turns sour, or dries up, like a leaf, to cling on beyond its time to the autumn branch.

The years bring a perspective too, to discerning and discriminating minds. At the moment this country and the world, for that matter, are greatly concerned over the underpriviliged. This "underprivileged" is a polite word generally for those whose mental or physical endowments are below the average. Either early in life, or late, they have lost the race because of some defect in character or in physical attributes. They are poetically described as the "forgotten." But the proportion of these so-called underprivileged, if historians may be believed, was far greater in feudal times than it is now. In ancient Roman days, the proportion was far greater than it was in the best days of feudalism.

Actually about one thirteenth of the present day population of the United States belongs in this group. Roughly this compares in inverse ration with feudal days, when possibly one thirteenth of the population, including the baronial families, their immediate household of captains, managers, and a few skilled artisans, such as armorers and scrivenirs, raised their heads above the bare subsistence line. So even with ten million people, who must be supported by the other 120 million, human existence today is on a much higher plane than five or six hundred years ago, when most of the population of England, for instance were human beings attached to the soil, or in time of war, served their masters as soldiers.

In those days every one, able bodied, was required to earn their living by the sweat of his brow. There was an individual, the almoner, who dispensed charity in the name of the lord of the manor, and this rather sporadically and only to the wreckage of the cruel and hard system under which they lived. The crippled in war, or the work worn and aged were cared for after a fashion. Horses, cattle, or sheep fared better than these unfortunates. All but a small fraction of the population lived, in the main, only a little above the border of starvation. In fact famines were a common calamity, and, with uncontrolled epidemics, and intermittent war, was a large factor in keeping down population increases. No one dreamed of birth control because death efficiently achieved the same result.

In the matter of relief, our ten million, are infinitely better off than the serfs of the middle ages, and in proportion to the entire population are only a very small fraction of the people. Thus moves civilization upwards and forwards. Throughout the ages, however, one principle seems to have governed. That is, no one may eat who will not work. If it costs twice as much to build a World's Fair in New York, by WPA labor, as it does under contract, it follows that the men employed are doing half the work that those in private employment do. There will come a time when this condition will not be tolerated and we shall return again to the fundamental principle. For, the so-called "underprivileged" who are supported without working, or earning the money they are paid, in reality tend to become a very privileged class, demanding of other workers that they subsist in idleness.

To those who reflect upon the long lessons of history, this condition is transitory. It will pass. We shall climb to higher ground. "The best is yet to be." When we consider the enormous advance civilization has made in a few hundred years, a slight interval in the span of history, there is nothing in present conditions to dismay us; nothing to make us ashamed. We are approaching the time when universally the unfit and the criminal will not be permitted to reproduce themselves. Eventlally unemployment insurance will take the place of relief for the able bodied. Social security will be gradually so perfected that we shall all benefit by it. The scalawags and racketeeers, in time, will be eliminated. Eventually we shall restore honesty in government.

Nevada City To Pay Tribute To Memory Of Departed Legions

Memorial Day will be observed tomorrow in Nevada City with appropriate exercises and the home coming of many who will remember relatives who have passed away. Business houses, bank, post office and county offices will close for the holiday.

Banner Mountain Post, V. F. W., will unite with Hague, Thomas Hegarty Post, of the American Legion, Canadian Legion and auxiliaries in rendering patriotic services in Nevada City, Grass Valley and North San Juan. The veterans of foreign wars will go to Grass Valley early in the morning to assist in services at the shrine in Memorial park and then all will come to Nevada City to pay tribute to late veterans and the auxiliary members here.

There will be a parade of school children auxiliaries and veterans which will start from Armory hall promptly at 10 o'clock. The line of march will be down Broad street across the Plaza out Boulder to Pine Grove cemetery. After completon of services the the group will go to the Catholic cemetery on West Broad street.

At Pine Grove cemetery the children will march to the Grand Army plot, deposit their flowers and there the following program will be presented:

Assembly: Jack Nettle of American Legion.

America: Grass Valley high school band.

Invocaion: Chaplain.

Reading of General Logan's Order by Earl Raymond of Grass Valley.

Selections by Nevada City high school band.

Oration: Frank G. Finnegan.

Selections: Grass Valley high school band.

Veterans Foreign War Memorial Service raising of flag to top of staff during the playing of Star-Spangled Banner by massed bands of both high schools.

Rifle salute and sounding of taps.

The graves of Ben H. Marsh, Joe Kreigel late veterans of the world war, and Mrs. Emma Butz, sister of auxiliary members will be honored in Pine Grove cemetery, and William Hegarty; the latest deceased veteran, John Marks, and Mrs. Ward sister of the auxiliary members in the Catholic cemetery will be remembered by the veterans and auxiliary.

Norman Kistle, past commander of Banner Mountain Post, will be in charge of the parade which will be made up of the following divisions:

California highway patrol, color guard; American Legion and auxiliary; Grass Valley high school band; veterans of all wars and auxiliary; high school students of Nevada City and Grass Valley; boy scouts of all troops of both cities, pupils of the Nevada City high and elementary schools.

The board of supervisors have recently had the G. A. R. plot in Pine Grove cemetery planted to lawn which is greatly appreciated by the veterans and those who have loved ones resting there.

Following services at the Catholic cemetery a group of veterans will go to North San Juan and hold services in the cemetery there.

The veterans want to thank the local theatre management for the offer of the theatre in case of rain, for the services.

RECEPTION FOR REV. AND MRS. BUCKNER

The ladies of the Methodist church will hold open house in the church parlors on Thursday for Rev. H. H. Buckner who is retiring from the ministry on June 13 and Mrs. Buckner. The hours will be 2 to 4 in the afternoon and 7 to 9 in the evening. A short program will be given in the afternoon and at 8 o'clock in the evening and refreshments will be served. The ladies hope all the friends of Rev. and Mrs. Buckner will be present.

Rev. Buckners plans are not definite but they expect to take a good rest and visit their daughters. Mr. Buckner has served the Nevada City Methodist church for fourteen years or about one third of his ministry. The entire community wishes for them much happiness.

THREE KINGS MINE

Ted Lemaire arrived in Nevada City Wednesday from the Three Kings, formerly Irelan mine, with the report of a good sized strike at the property. It is understood that 174 pounds of "jewelry" quartz was taken to the Nevada City bank and was valued at $70,000 per ton.—Mountain Messenges.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder if in Flanders Field
Today the summer breezes blow,
And if among the grasses green
Again the blood red poppies grow.
Here as we wear the crimson flower
And all our treasured memories keep,
This be our prayer, that nevermore
Shall war its wanton harvest reap.

I wonder, in the light of present day events, if Memorial Day is coming to bear a deeper significance with every passing year.

We cannot buy and wear our Buddy Poppies now and perform the ceremonies of Memorial Day observance as we did in those years after the great World War, during which we truly believed Peace had won a final victory and that war would never again aflict mankind with its horrors and bestial rage and hate.

We know now that the great battle for human liberty and peace, cannot be decided upon a battle field; it cannot be enforced by legislation; it must be fought and won in the hearts and minds of men and women; and these hearts and minds must be freed from the corroding chains of ignorance, superstition and intolerance.

The solemn observances of Memorial Day with all the sacred memories they invoke, serve to teach us that with humble and understanding hearts, we may confidently hope to win for ourselves and for future generations, the great boon of peace toward which "the whole world hasteneth."

I wonder if we shall not more firmly resolve to keep faith with those who sleep in Flanders Field—to so conduct ourselves that their dream of world wide peace may come true—to so think, speak and act, that they, our heroes shall not have died in vain.

Surely we shall need to acquire great understanding and the will to work unceasingly, to win our battle for peace—an understanding born of a great desire and an ever present purpose.

I think they watch us from some distant shore,
Their faces grave with doubt,
"Have you kept faith with us?" they cry,
I hear the faint, far echo of their shout.
"You go on in the same old, thoughtless way,
From day to day—
Unheeding, half forgetting.
Our work is done, the rest remains to you;
Have you kept faith with us?
Have you been true?"

—A. MERRIAM CONNER.

Ham and Eggs Thurs; Only Beans Frid

By ED. C. UREN

The squandering orgy of the lunatics in Washington who are bankrupting the nation with the balmy idea of spending this country into prosperity has not only lowered the morale of the people to an alarming extent, but it has naturally created the impression among a lot of us that money literally grows on bushes. And so, schemes more numerous than the legs on a centipede blossom out, promising abounding incomes that will permit the favored ones luxurious existence without soiling the hands or drawing a bead of perspiration.

Some of them are downright frauds gotten out by crooks who feather their financial nests by means of the sale of books, working the old chain letter gag, or by donations to help along the cause.

But, one and all, whether they fill a thick volume of technocratic piffle or are outlined in a simple pamphlet, they seek to create something out of nothing and are as unworkable as perpetual motion.

THE BIBLE IS RIGHT

The biblical saying that man shall earn his bread by the sweat of his brow is as true now as ever. The very safety and future existence of the nation demands it and even the Fascist countries, with which we are not in agreement, certainly put it all over us when it comes to accomplishing things, no matter what our opinion of them may be.

If some political bally-hooer gets a pension bill of $35 a month through his state legislature, a more ambitious one, in order to get his snout in the public trough, will promise $45 and the hosnanas of acclaim from the pensioners is loud and prolonged.

These pensioners are well organized too. They work with perfect unity; there is no disention, for they have only one object in view. They collect, in the aggregate, large sums of money from their enthusiastic followers with which to carry on their propaganda; and in the end they usually succeed, no matter how absurd their set up is or how harmful and disastrous it may become, because the taxpayer, who foots all the bills, and wails about it to his friends, is too uninterested to either organize or try to protect himself against the plunderers.

FIGHT THE HUMAN SPONGES

But the time is at hand right now for the taxpayer to wake up, if he is ever going to, to the dangers confronting him on every side. He must organize against these human sponges and the political sharks that fatten off their takings. If a petition of a million signatures goes on for some damphool legislation, it should be offset by two million from the taxpayers.

If the taxpayers will organize as thoroughly as these pressure groups —and it is only a matter of a little effort to do so—it will be in their power to control absolutely, not only the caliber of their officials but to stop at once and for good and all such a fiasco as is now threatened by the Ham & Egg contingent.

Governor Olson has already left a smear on every decent citizen's judgment in the pardoning of Mooney. If he puts the state to the half million dollar expense necessary to again vote on this looney bill, which was overwhelmingly defeated as recently as last November, he should be recalled; and there is but little doubt that he will be.

SHINING GILDED BRICK

Thirty Dollars Every Thursday, unlike some other money grabbing measures, which are a confusion of figures and statements that bewilder the ordinary layman, is not hard to understand. As a painless money getter it is entitled to the gilded sponge. for there is no trace of modesty in what it asks for.

The fertile brains that concocted it didn't overlook anything that might, by any possible chance, interrupt their plundering once the measure became law, except the fact that it was unworkable and impossible.

Los Angeles seems to be the focal point of infection. It, in particular, has been the mecca for all the dust-bowlers, migrants, ne'er-do-wells and tin can tourists who have hitch hiked, walked or trekked in with decrepit tin Lizzies and the urge to get to this land of golden opportunity and there to squat and await the one years' residence, which is all that is necessary to get the promised perpetual pension of $120 a month; more money monthly than any of them ever earned in their lives.

"HOT MONEY"

In order to refresh our memory let us again go over some of the provisions of this most magnanimous bill: Within 5 days after its passage the governor must appoint either one Roy Owens or one Will Kindig, who will have full charge of the administration of the measure. This is a little matter that is all cut and dried —all prearranged.

"Hot money" is an appropriate name given to this proposed scrip because, like a hot coal, the quicker one gets rid of it the better one is off. The chief worry after receiving it will be to pass it along to the other fellow so that, come a Thursday, he, and not you, will have to put the two cent tax on it, which, of course, has to be bought with real money. If you think of hoarding it, it's a boomerang because it will cost you 102 per cent in a year's time, and why pay that when you can go to the bank and get real money for 5 or 6 per cent.

First, the state is to issue 20 million dollars in bonds for initial capital; two hundred thousand of which will be used to advertise and to acquaint the people through radio of the advantages of the new money.

ELASTIC PAPER

Do not forget that the amount of scrip issued weekly to each individual is not limited to $30, but may be increased, as the administrators decide, to any amount necesary to meet any increase in the proces of commodities over those prevailing in 1937.

The present sales tax will prevail as is for those using real money, but those holding warrants will not have to pay it. This discrimination would not, of course, stand a court test, but it shows how complete has been the set up favoring this unholy scheme.

A gross state income tax of 3 per cent is levied, but again the holder of scrip is blessed, for warrants shall not be considered as income, nor can the Ham & Egger's bank deposits be taken by any sale, assignment or mortgage without his consent.

SHOWERS OF BLESSINGS

All homes assessed for less than $3000 will pay no taxes. As perhaps three fourths of the homes in Nevada county are assessed for less than this amount, we shudder at the necessary raise in taxes to overcome this benefaction.

The act specifically qualifies inmates of penal institutions as entitled to the dole. Imagine the jealousy that will be created among the younger inmates of San Quentin and Folsom prisons and the side money the guards will make buying luxuries for the old birds, for they get their board and clothing free.

There is no discrimination as to citizenship and an alien will be handed his mazuma with the same open heartedness as the best citizen.

Now, the next provision is a gem. It is boiler plate, double rivited foresight: "No injunction or other legal process shall ever issue to interfere with the administration of this article". In other words the Ham & Egg stuffed shirts are to have a free hand in the whole program of finance and no process of law can interfere with them. As the act also specifies that newly created Credit Clearing Bank shall be the depository for all county and state funds—the sole depository—those on the the take will be able to dip their money hooks into the pork barrel without hondrance. What a gorgeous set up.

CRIPPLES CAN STARVE

Then again: "No person receiving warrants shall be required to use any part thereof for the support of a relative over 18 years of age." So, if there happens to be a cripple or an invalid in the family it will be perfectly all right to let him, or her, starve to death.

A check over the great register of Nevada county of 1898, in which 6047 voters were registered, shows that 28 per cent were 50 years or over. The register of 1910, counting 2975 voters (some of the pages were missing) shows 35 per cent of the voters to be 50 or over.

"National Debt Week"

By decree of the Republican National Committee last week was "National Debt Week." To set aside a week for deploring the size and rate of increase of our national debt can certainly do no harm. The initial statement of the committee points out that our national debt has now passed the $40,000,000,000 mark, with another $5,000,000,000 guaranteed on the side, and that Mr. Roosevelt declared in 1932. "Any government like any family can for a year spend a little more than it earns; but you and I know that a continuation of that habit means the poorhouse." None the less, the statement continues, the national debt has been doubled since the inauguration of the New Deal as a result of Federal spending that averages $15,000 a minute, offset by revenue of only about $8,000 a minute.

Yet such summaries of the situation, though a necessary part of any campaign for economy, have been shown to be in themselves ineffectual. Often they do not even affect the very persons who draw them up. The most recent illustration of this was the action of the Senate in passing a $1,218,000,000 Agrciultural Appropriation Bill, exceeding even the present budget allowance by $400,000,000. Forty-nine Democratic Senators supported this appropriation, while only three opposed it. Eight Republican votes supported it, with only eleven against it. It is a vote of such as this, and not the number of Congressmen that we can get to express fine sentiments in favor of economy in general, that points to the real problem we have to solve.

Why is it that, though polls of public opinion indicate a substantial majority in favor of "economy," the representatives who are supposed to reflect public opinion continue to spend recklessly and to keep the budget hugly unbalanced? The answer is to be found in two directions. One has to do with the political forces that bear directly on Congressmen. The groups that are pressing for continued or larger Federal hand-outs are not likely to forgive lack of generosity. This is not only because they are well organized but because the amount of the hand-out makes a large difference to each of them individually, and they are in a position to know just how much difference it does make to them. This is not true of the much larger number of persons who are called upon to pay for the hand-outs. This is partly because a subsidy which may make a very great difference in raising the living standards of the small group that gets it may seem to make an inappreciable difference in lowering the living standards of the great group of taxpayers who are called upon to pay it. Not only may the amount individually be very small so far as the taxpayer is concerned, but no individual taxpayer is in a position to know to just what extent he will individually be affected. Taxpayer protest is likely to be ineffective in part because the indidivual income tax reaches a politically negligible proporton of the voters, in part because almost no individual knows what the incidence of indirect taxation is in relation to himself, and because the postponement of even the through borrowing confuses the taxpayer still further. Only when the base of visible taxation is a broad one, and when new appropriations must be met immediately out of the proceeds of new taxes. is taxpayer protest likely to be really effective.

The other chief factor that tends to make an unbalanced budget perpetuate itself is psychological. When even the budget contemplates a deficit of $3,300,000,000 for next year, it becomes difficult for Congressmen to understand the concern of the President and the Secretary of the Treasury lest it should go, say, to $3,700,000,000. To regard the first deficit as all right, but anything above it as all wrong, seems purely arbitrary. On what grounds of principle can the distinction be made? If deficit spending is good, why is not more deficit spending better? If spending is not to be limited by receipts, at what point beyond is it to be limited? The truth is that once they abandon a balanced budget as their criterion, those who believe there should be any reasonable restraint whatever on expenditures have deprived themselves of the one fixed point on which they can convincingly take their stand—New York Times (Independent Democratic newspaper.)

"LET FREEDOM RING" SONG FILM TOMORROW NIGHT

Surrounding Nelson Eddy with an all star cast, comprising Virginia Bruce, Victor McLaglen, Lionel Barrymore, Edward Arnold, Gny Kibbee and Charles Butterworth, "Let Freedom Ring", romantic drama of pioneer days opens at the Nevada Theatre for a two day engagement Tuesday.

A story of the fight between farmers of the 1860's and an unscrupulous railroad construction gang pressing westward the two fisted story, authored by Ben Hecht, presents Eddy as a young Harvard law school graduate, Barrymore as his father and leader of the farmers, Miss Bruce as Eddy's sweetheart, proprrietress of a western cafe, Arnold as the Wall Street tycoon and McLaglen as his Irish foreman.

Eddy sings seven numbers, including "Dusty Road," "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," "Home, Sweet Home," "Where Else But Here," "Pat, Sez He," Drigo's "Love's Serenade," and the national hymn, "My Country Tis of Thee." Miss Bruce leads the singing of this last number with Eddy and a massed chorus taking up the verse. Also heard is "I've been Working on the Railroad," sung by a male chorus.

WITH YOUR ASSEMBLYMAN
"SCOOP" THURMAN
AT THE STATE CAPITOL

Another week has gone by and your legislators are still working day and night on their large calendar. And we might add also, working with out pay. The main reasons for the legislators being behind with their work are the budget, which is still under consideration, and the many controversial bills which require so much time for debate on the floor. The writer cannot see how the session can be adjourned before June 15 and it may be later.

A. G. Thurman

Your assemblyman, with the aid of Assemblyman Kuchel, Carlson and Phillips successfully opposed a so-called peaceful picketing bill last week which, if passed, would have prevented any city or county from passing an anti picketing ordinance. Our opposition was based on the right of the citizens of a city or the county to govern themselves. The bill took away the right of home rule. The bill AB 105, introduced by Assemblwman Rosenthal of Los Angeles, lost by a vote of 38 to 33. On a motion to reconsider the bill was again defeated 38 to 35.

In opposing the bill, your assemblyman cited the labor dispute in Nevada county, instigated largely by outside radical labor agitators.

A bill in which all registered nurses of the district are interested, AB 620, known as the nursing practice act, would set up a new state board of nursing examiners. passed the lower house last week by a vote of 60 to 2. The writer was happy to cast his vote in favor of the bill.

Your assemblyman was swamped with telegrams one morning last week, receiving 71 in all, as well as several letters and petitions. These telegrams and petitions came from state employees throughout the district opposing a bill which they believe will stop their salary adjustments.

A bill which will liberalize some of the features of the old age pension laws in the state was passed by the lower house last Friday. While no increase over the monthly payment of $35 was approved, the bill does eliminate some of the bad features of the present law. Many of the legislators would have been glad to have increased the monthly allowance if it could have been done with out an added tax burden.

Briefly, Section 2020 of the Welfare Code, as amended, now reads as follows:

"2020. The amount of aid to which any aplicant shall be entitled shall be, when added to the income of the applicant from all other sources, $35 per month.

"The value of the use and occupancy of premises owned and occupied by applicants shall not be deemed income. Net income from any of the following sources of a combined total value not exceeding fifteen dollars per month shall not be considered for any purpose:

"(a) Income from the applicant's labor or service! or rent from the premises owned by applicants;

"(b) The value of foodstuffs, or other merchantable products, produced by the applicant;

"(c) The value of firewood or water produced on the premises of the applicant or given to him by another;

"(d) The value of gifts or money, other than regular contributions by relatives legally responsible under this chapter."

RUNAWAY BOY IS RETURNED TO HOME

Donald Reinhardt, 15 year old boy of San Francisco who was found at Buck Horn Camp near the Fowlers Sawmill on the Washington ridge early in the week and brought to the county jail was returned to his home Saturday.

The youngster ran away from home about two months ago, he told Probation officer A. W. McGagin, into whose charge he was placed. His parents were notified and they asked that he be sent to his home.

Mrs. Martha Lane of Oakland is registered at the National Hotel and will remain until tomorrow visiting relatives and many friends. She is the grandmother of Mrs. Bertino, former Miss Christy Jane Holmes, Mrs. Lanes late husband Henry Lane owned and operated a big livery stable where the Standard Oil station now stands. It was burned about 18 years ago in a conflagration that destroyed several other business firms.

HAM AND EGGS

Up at Willow Valley, where they seem to live longer than they do elsewhere in the county, out of 79 voters 50 were over 50 years of age.

To give us some idea as to how Ham & Eggs would work out we can reasonably take our own community as a background for the scheme. We have at this time 1703 registered voters within the corporate limits and we have an undetermined number of aliens who are not voters. It is reasonably safe to say there are 500 people in the city who are eligible for the script. That would mean $15,000 weekly, or $780,000 a year that would have to be absorbed in Nevada City alone. About one fourth of the mine pay roll.

500 PAPER HANGERS

Just imagine, if you will, 500 people of a Thursday morning carrying 15,000 pieces of paper, descending upon the merchants.... literally falling over one another in their anxiety to get rid of this hot money and get hold of some real money of the realm for it. How business will boom. Well, let's see. Perhaps we had beter analyze his scheme a little closer before we get too enthusiastic.

Maybe the merchants will not accept that kind of so-called money. As a matter of fact it is quite certain that they will not take it at all, unless they want to go into bankruptcy.

Assuming that a merchant accepts this money at its face value. What does this hot dollar represent? What is it worth? At the end of the first week it is worth just two cents, and that is for the stamp that is on it. The other 98 cents is not an asset, it is a liability and he caniot take it to the newly created Clearing Bank and get more than two cents for it.

REAL MONEY REDEMPTION

For the sake of argument let us assume that the $15,000 represented in scrip received each week in this community is absorbed here. To be redeemed for real money it must be held for a year and it must have 52 two cent stamps attached to it—equivalent to 104 per cent a year tax or interest, or whatever you want to call it. Somebody has to pay it.

To validate the 15,000 pieces of scrip each week would require $300, which somebody in this community would have to place on the warrants to make them of any value. Will any merchant start doing this? He would most certainly be courting disaster if he did.

PHONEY MONEY AND BANKRUPTCY

Where two kinds of money are in use—real money and the phoney stuff, you can't dictate to any one as to which he must accept. If one merchant accepts hot money, which is always a liability and never represents a standard of value, he must raise his prices to offset that liability. The more business of this nature he does, the worse off he is and the merchant who sells for real money will undersell him and put him out of business. A merchant who has a till full of paper obligations upon which he has to pay 10 per cent interest certainly is not going to prosper.

I know what some of the proponents of the scheme will say. They will say that the merchant will not have to keep these warrants. That he will use them in purchasing goods. That the wholesaler and the manufacturer will have to take them. But these both, if they accepted this kind of money, would soon be flooded with it and it would be of no use for the purchase of anything outside the state.

WORKERS WILL PAY

In any event, the fact remains, and no argument will efface it. You can keep these warrants bouncing along from person to person, with as much desire to hold them as they would the jack of spades in a game or hearts, but they have finally got to land somewhere. They may shuttle along for a whole year, but somebody —it doesn't matter who—will complete the paying of 102 per cent interest, or tax.

The whole scheme amounts to nothing more than a outright dole by the workers and taxpayers to the end that a large part of the population can squander four times what is really necessary to support them. It is safe to say that the scheme would be in chaos right from the start and that another hurried call for special legislation would be necessary to clear up the mess and save the state from bankruptcy.

Automatically, those now receiving the $35 a month pension would be paid off in warrants which would soon be worthless and they are bound to suffer hardships during the debacle that will inevitably follow.

BANDITS IN PRINCIPLE

If this bill is voted on and should pass—although there isn't the remotest chance—who will pay for the Ham & Eggs? The men who work, of course. Those who produce; who have the energy and ambition to try to lay something by for a rainy day. They will pay the bill, as they always have done, increased living expenses and increased taxes.

The Ham & Eggs measure hasn't one redeeming feature. In every clause it is insolent, unAmerican and vulgarly one sided. Its authors have shown that they have about as much regard for the welfare of their state as has a bandit about to rob a bank.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By JEAN MARTZ

On Friday night the class of '39 presented its senior ball with glamarous Hawaiian theme. Dancers and spectators came into the room by means of a gangplank. Native girls in bright sarongs stood with arms loaded with leis to place around the necks of the dancers and patrons and patronesses. The lights were dimmed and decked with blue and gold streamers on which hung colorful Hawaiian fish. On one wall, a large Hawaiian panorama was hung, with palm trees, beach and moon. Around the walls were palms arranged very effectively. The music supplied by Captain Carter and his band was excellent. The grand march was led by President Bill Joyal and Vice President Doreen Foreman. Everyone enjoyed the dance and pronounced it a tremendous success. Miss Nell Baggley is senior class advisor.

OFFICERS NOMINATED

Nominatians for student body offices have been made and campaign speeches were given in assembly Friday. The folowing nominations were made: President, Margie Clark and Robert Reeder; vice president, Elsie Schreiber and Doreen Watson; secretary, Jane Bennett and Oscar Engstrom; treasurer, Adrienne Barnharte and Pearl Strach. Elections will be held on Wednesday.

"KIDS" DAY

Next Friday will be "Kids Day" at the high school. All the students will return to their childhood days with short dresses and pants. Prizes will be given for the best costumes and the fun will reach its peak at the presentation. Jane Bennett was head of the committee securing "Kids" Day. After noon the students will go to Olympia park for the annual picnic. Dancing, swimming, boating and games will be enjoyed.

QUILL IS OUT

The 1939 Quill arrives from the printer today and goes on sale at noon. Class salesmen have been busy for almost a month and the Quills are selling well. Dorothy Hoff is circulation manager and she is working very hard to sell all the books. The cover this year is in black and white and the design was drawn by Bernice McQuay. Miss Rector is Quill advisor.

BAND TO PLAY

The high school will participate in the Memorial Day parade on Tuesday. The band will play in the parade and the students will march with their floral offerings. The day is a school holiday but a large crowd will be down town to offer tribute to the soldiers, alive and dead.

BUICK DEALER ERECTS BUILDING IN HILLS FLAT

The new building to house the sales rooms, repair and service departments of the Buick agency, now being erected in Hills Flat by Paul Viles, the distributor, is rapidly nearing completion.

Viles will move from his offices in East Main street, Grass Valley to the new structure early in June. The new, one story building is finished in stucco, and when opened will offer all repair work, lubrication, tire and battery services, and will be equipped with the latest devices for speedy efficient work.

An innovation in Nevada county will be the installation of a complete United Motors service for testing and tuning up cars and trucks. Paul Viles besides dealing in Buick cars also handles General Motors trucks.

Social Events

Miss Evelyn Hughes Weds Everett Brown

Mrs. H. C. Hughes of Grass Valley announced the wedding of her daughter, Miss Evelyn Hughes, to Everett Brown of Nevada City. The wedding will take place June 4.

The bride to be is a graduate of the Grass Valley high school and is attending Placer Junior College in Auburn. Brown is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Brown of Nevada City and graduated from the Nevada City high school. He is employed at the Lava Cap mine southeast of Nevada City.

Mrs. Harry McKee Will Be Guest of Honor

Mrs. Harry McKee is in a flutter of happy expectancy, for she is to be the "guest of honor" at a delightful luncheon next Monday at Rainbow Tavern up near Donner Summit. The hostess of the occasion will be Mrs. Bettina Haley of San Francisco, the charming mother of Harold Haley of Washington Ridge. Other guests at the luncheon will be Valora (Mrs. Horald) Haley, Gertrude (Mrs. Max) Lantz, and Mrs. Fred Hooper.

Mr. Haley's mother has made many friends on her several former visits here. Perhaps it should be mentioned that this visit is a mere stopover enroute on an extended tour of the eastern states and Canada. Unfortunately for England's royalty, Mrs. Haley wll not arrive in the east in time to assist in their entertainment, but will of course visit our nation's capital, and the New York World's Fair. She expects to make numerous brief sojourns on her return across Canada.

MEDAL FOR HEROIC ATTEMPT AT RESCUE

A recent issue of The Pacific Telephone Magazine, a journal devoted to the interests of the worker organization of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., carries an extended detail story of the heroic attempt made during the blizzard of February 9, 1938, by George F. Wilson, installer-repairman for the company in the Grass Valley office, to save the life of his fellow-worker, Ralph Gleason, in the rugged mountain fastnesses of the route traversed by the toll lines between Camptonville and Goodyears Bar.

Gleason's life was lost, despite the heroic battle made by Wilson to reach Goodyears Bar and summon aid, and Wilson's life was despaired of as the result of his long and perilous trek.

Wilson's heroism has not gone unrecognized nor unrewarded. The article in point recounts the fact that he recently was awarded the Vail medal "for courage and fortitude in attempting to save the life of a fellow worker." — Mountain Messenger.

HE'S CHIEF AND HE IS ALSO GRANDPA

Chief of Police Garfield Robson is stepping high, wide and handsome these days, the reason? Well he is grandpa now. A seven and a half pound daughter was born yesterday morning, May 27, 1939 to his daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Painter, Jr., of Grass Valley. Both mother and babe are doing nicely.

Quartz and Placer claim location notice blanks at the Nugget Office.

WARREN CHAPMAN, WEST POINT, SOON GRADUATES

Chester Warren Chapman, son of Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Chapman of this city will graduate next Wednesday from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point to which he was appointed as a cadet by Congressman Harry L. Englebright.

The youthful cadet will receive his commission as a second lieutenant in the U. S. army. "Buzz", as he is known to friends in Nevada City, is the third Nevada City boy to graduate rfom the academy. They are Lyman Welch, who graduated many years ago; George B. Finnegan, Jr., who graduated about 20 years ago and last, Chapman.

Personal

Mr. and Mrs. George Gildersleeve have as a house guest, Madame B. Dulout of Monterey.

Fred Sauvee, who has been very ill with an attack of flue is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Boardman and daughter and son in law, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Woods of Martinez visited friends over Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Boardman are former residents and resided on Alexander street. He was an old time typesetter and was employed on the old Transscript many years.

Mrs. D. H. Buford of Long Beach is registered for a few days at the National Hotel. Mrs. Buford is an old friend of the H. P. Davis family, having visited with them many years ago when they lived in Haiti.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Ward of Payette Lakes, near McCall, Idaho, are visiting their son and family in Nevada City and are delighted with the section. When they left, the MGM moving picture company was preparing to make the picture, "Northwest Passage". Mr. and Mrs. Ward will go to the fair and visit other relatives before returning home.

We recondition, repaint and overhaul cars and trucks at reasonable prices. George Bros., Grass Valley.

Tom Jennings will go to Virginia City tomorrow to decorate the grave of his late mother.

J. B. Canada came down from the Walker mine and spent the week end in Nevada City visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Develey, Jr., and infant daughter of Auburn spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson in Nevada City. Mr. Develey was called to attend the trial of an action in the superior court of Sierra county by the Irelan and Plumbago mines against the P. G. & E. company. Develey is an employee of the P. G. & E.

Miss Helen Arbogast, teacher in the Meridian school, has returned to her home in Nevada City after attending a picnic and program at the close of her term last Friday. She will return to teach in the Meridian school next term.

At the last meeting of Laurel Parlor N. D. G. W. delegates were elected to attend grand parlor in San Francisco the week of June 19th. The group is as follows, Mrs. Edna Maguire, Mrs. Agnes Worthley, Mrs. Effie Goering, Miss Elenore Vanberg.

Joe Polmere of San Francisco is registered at the National Hotel and is injoying a visit with many friends. He came up on his yearly visit and to decorate the graves of his parents in a local cemetery on Decoration Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hieronimus had as week end guest Msr. and Mrs. J. P. Ferry and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. DeMatei, all of San Francisco.

Mrs. Anna Tucker and Mrs J. P. Muscardini spent the past week end in San Jose visiting friends.

PLUM VALLEY BASEBALL

A large enthusiastic crowd turned out Sunday to witness a lively baseball game between the Kenton and the 16-to-1 miners on the new Plum alley baseball diamond. The 16-to-1 boys won the game by a score of 19 to 15. Another game will be played on the same field next Sunday.
